

Steam distillation units require extensive and complicated maintenance by expensive external experts?

Not the behr “S” and “D” units.

If you know how to handle a screw driver you can perform routine maintenance yourself.

All you need is our maintenance set for distillation units.

The set comes with all the necessary spare parts for the working area as well as for the interior of the unit.

Included are exactly those

- screw caps
- seals
- tubes
- valves
- multifunctional tool

which are prone to wear out during everyday use in the laboratory.

No more time consuming and annoying downtimes of your unit while you are waiting for an external expert.

With the behr maintenance set for steam distillation units you can do it yourself.
